

THIN PEOPLE

want to get fat and fat people want to get thin—human nature. If you are fat don't take Scott's Emulsion. It will make you gain flesh. If you are thin Scott's Emulsion is just what you need.

It is one of the greatest flesh producers known. Not temporary gains but healthy, solid flesh that will fill out the body where it is needed.

There's nothing better than Scott's Emulsion for weakness and wasting.

Scott's Emulsion is a food-medicine; not a stimulant; not a mere "extract" or so-called "wine" of cod liver oil. It contains the whole oil perfectly emulsified, which is the only way of preserving its valuable properties.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

This is the age of research and experiment, when all nature, so to speak, is ransacked by the scientific for the comfort and happiness of man. Science has indeed made giant strides during the past century, and among these—by no means least important—discoveries in medicine comes that of THERAPION.

This preparation is unquestionably one of the most genuine and reliable Patent Medicines ever introduced, and has, we understand, been used in the Continental Hospitals by Hicord, Bostan, Jolbert, Volp, Malsoune, the well-known Chassagnac, and indeed by all who are regarded as authorities in such matters, including the celebrated Lallemand, and Roux. Such is the New French Remedy, THERAPION, which may certainly rank with, if not take precedence of, many of the discoveries of our day, about which no little speculation and praise have been made, and the extensive and ever-increasing demand that has been created for this medicine wherever introduced appears to prove that it is destined to cast into oblivion all those questionable remedies that were formerly the sole reliance of medical men.—Diamond Fields Advertiser, Kimberley.

ROYAL SCHOOL BUILDING IS OFFICIALLY OPENED

Historical Address by Supt. of Public Instruction
Atkinson—Interesting Remarks by Representative Nakuina.

There was a large assemblage at the official opening of the Royal School's new edifice yesterday morning. Governor Geo. R. Carter and Secretary A. L. C. Atkinson were present.

An interesting variation from the program was a fire drill. Superintendent Atkinson sounded the alarm, when the 800 children in the various grades marched out of the building in orderly style. The entire number of pupils were outdoors in two and a half minutes from the signal.

Rev. Stephen L. Desha, chaplain of the House of Representatives, offered an opening prayer and delivered the closing address, both in Hawaiian.

Following the prayer the school choir sang "Praise and Thanksgiving," by C. F. Rinck; and, after the principal's address, "Birds in the Night," by Arthur Sullivan, and "Spring Song," by Piusini; also "Hawaii Pono!" and "Star Spangled Banner" at the close of the exercises. Music was rendered on the grounds by the Government band before and after the indoor program.

Addresses were delivered by A. T. Atkinson, Superintendent of Public Instruction; Principal Alexander Mackintosh, Chairman M. K. Nakuina of the House committee on education and Rev. S. L. Desha. Superintendent Atkinson's address was as follows:

SUPT. ATKINSON'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Governor, Ladies and Gentlemen and Pupils of the Royal School:

Today the new Royal School building is officially opened and many of the people of this city, together with Senators and Representatives from all parts of the Islands, have met together to do honor to the occasion.

This school, which is now renovated, is one of the historical landmarks of education in Hawaii. You may ask, and many people may ask, why we call it the Royal School. This is the reason. It was founded in 1840, 64 years ago, and the object at that time was to educate the young chiefs who would at some future day be likely to either rule the Islands or to be prominent in the advancement of Hawaii. Fourteen young chiefs and chieftesses were educated for over ten years in this family school, which was presided over by Mr. and Mrs. Cook. Their names have been furnished to me by Dr. Alexander, who has been constantly interested in education on the Islands and who is our greatest and most able historian.

1. Moses Kekua'ua, son of Kekua-naoa and Kinai, born July 20, 1829, adopted by Kaikioewa, Governor of Kauai.

2. Lot Kamehameha, brother of Moses, born December 11, 1830, adopted by Hoapili, governor of Maui. Became King as Kamehameha V.

3. Alexander Liholiho, brother of Moses and Lot, born February 9, 1834, adopted by Kamehameha III. Became King as Kamehameha IV.

4. Victoria Kamehameha, sister of the above, born November 1, 1838.

5. William Charles Lunaillo, son of Kekua'ua and Kanaina, born January 31, 1835. Became King under his own name.

6. Bernice Pauahi, daughter of Paki and Konia, born December 19, 1831, adopted by Kinai. Foundress of the Kamehameha Schools.

7. Abigail Maheha, daughter of Namile and Liliha, adopted by Kekua'ua, born July 10, 1832.

8. Jane Loeau, half-sister of Abigail, daughter of Liliha and Kalanialumoku, born in 1828, adopted by Ahukai (Kaukauali), married a Mr. Jasper.

9. Elizabeth Kekaniau, daughter of Launui, born September 11, 1834, married Mr. Pratt.

10. Emma Rooke, daughter of Fanny Young, adopted by Dr. Rooke, born January 2, 1835, married Kamehameha IV.

11. Peter Young Kaeo, son of Kaeo and Lahilahi, adopted by John Young, his uncle, born March 4, 1836.

12. James Kaliokalani, son of Kapaka and Keohokaloie, born May 29, 1835.

13. David Kalakaua, brother of the above, born November 16, 1836, adopted by Kihimaka and Haheo (Kani). Became King under his own name.

14. Lydia Kamakaeha (Liliuokalani), (title assumed when Heir Apparent), born September 2, 1838, adopted by Paki and Konia. She and Emma Rooke entered the school in 1842. She became Queen under her adopted name. Thus out of the fourteen, there were four future Kings, one Queen and also a Queen Consort.

In 1851 the school was opened to the general public and was established upon the premises which are still occupied. The old school building erected in 1851 was removed in 1900 because it was considered unsafe. In the meantime, as the years rolled by, many additional rooms of wood were added till the school lot looked almost like a village. In 1899 it was proposed to erect a large school in place of the scattered buildings. The means for this were not available at that time and only became available last year. You now see before you what has been done in putting forward a new Royal School which may be regarded as an ornament and an honor to the Territory which erected it. And the new Royal School has been erected by Republicans and the strength of our Republic is such that we need not fear a mere name which carries with it an historical memory. Other Republics have, in their time, swept away in their ardor every symbol and memory if possible of their previous rulers, but the great Republic of which we now form a part has no such feeling and the small portion that we form of it has never found it necessary to change historic names. We have our King street, our Queen street, our Kamehameha Schools and our Lunaillo Home, all commemorative and historical. So we have our Royal School, even in the midst of a Republic.

Indelibly has been imprinted upon the community the influence of this institution commencing with Mr. and Mrs. Cook, and passing through the hands of Dr. E. G. Beckwith (than whom there never has been a better educator in the country or one more beloved), down to the present principal, Rev. Alexander Mackintosh, who has charge at this moment. A wireless from Dr. Beckwith says, "Congratulations to the Board of Education and the New Royal School."

It may be interesting to tell you that Mr. Mackintosh and myself landed on these shores on the same day, September 6, 1869, and we left San Francisco on the same day in the steamer Idaho. It took us twelve days to come down. Great things have been done since then. Tempi Passati. The old, old things have gone. Everything has changed, and a marked change in one of the Hawaiian great institutions occurs today.

In this long career of 64 years the Royal School has educated the chiefs' sons and daughters, all of whom, save Mrs. Pratt, have gone to rest. At the present time it educates close on to 800 pupils of the many varying nationalities of this Territory. What was done at the outset gave to the Islands some very able administrators and also able professional men. This it is hoped that it will continue to do. But not all of us can be administrators or professional men, and there is as high a dignity of manhood or womanhood in those who have to labor with their hands as in those who labor with their brains.

One of the main objects of our educational system at the present time is to teach the dignity of labor, the dignity of honest work, and this I hope, and I believe every good citizen of the Territory hopes, will be fostered by this Royal School. It must be also hoped that the training of the hand as well as the head will be and is fostered in every corner of the Territory to which our school system now reaches.

There is an idea, or there certainly has been on these islands, an idea that mere mental culture is the aim of education. I distinctly take a stand against such a view. I believe it is the duty of the state to supply as good education to every man as it is possible to give him so that his mind can grasp the many questions which our civilization calls for; but I do not believe that the mere head knowledge is all that a man should have or a woman should have. I believe in the knowledge of the hand as well as the knowledge of the mind. It has been one of the mistakes of the past that the hand has not been as well educated as the mind. The merely mentally educated man or woman would probably starve under some circumstances and I would like, at this formal opening of the Royal School, to lay down firmly the idea that we must have hand training as well as head training. For this purpose we desire to add to this institution a thoroughly good mechanical department. This will call for funds which have not yet been provided but which I hope will be provided. Our aim and effort must always be to rise higher and higher and mistakes in the past must be wiped out and regarded as the stepping stones to the very best that our means can give.

"Knowledge is power" as a greater thinker once wrote, but knowledge is a worthless and rotten staff to lean on unless the knowledge be applied to practical results. "Labor," said Dr. Johnson, "is the fabled Magician's wand, the Philosopher's stone and the cap of Fortunatus." And another great thinker, Carlyle, says "Labor is life. From the inmost heart of the worker rises his God-given force: the sacred celestial life-essence breathed into him by Almighty God."

Handsomeness no doubt is this building and great are its opportunities but it matters not how handsome a building may be it can only exist as an efficient adjunct to those who will have it in charge. Upon them and upon the Department of Public Instruction honorably rests the burden of rising upward and onward. We have worked sometimes under great difficulties and it has been a matter of line upon line and precept upon precept but our opportunity must come and if we cannot or do not take that opportunity we are unworthy of the trust that has been put upon us.

Far better for the human kind is giving work its place.

Work elevates, expands the mind

And thus uplifts the race.

REP. NAKUINA'S REMARKS.

Representative Nakuina began his address with the following Royal school reminiscences:

"Ladies, gentlemen and pupils of the Royal School, why, come to think of it I was once a pupil of this school when I was a little boy. If my memory serves me correctly, I think one of the present staff of teachers of this school remembers me well, if she does not, I remember her, because I could not touch her with a ten-foot pole, but if I did not know my lessons, she always used to put the finishing touches to them with a cowhide."

"I do not blame her now, but I believe I had no such feelings of impartiality at that time. She used to make me pull ten weeds for every mistake I made in reciting my lessons, and many was the time that I left home for school with a pocketful of weeds, ready to meet the just demands of my good and patient teacher."

"I hope that your children do not do likewise. In our school days, when we went up to recite our lessons, we were required to walk up to the teacher and put our hands on her table palm down, so that she could see whether our finger nails were clean or in mourning. Many a time I went a mourning because my finger nails were in mourning. Then we had to show our teeth by grinning to the teacher so that she see that they were clean, or whether the stain of molasses candy was still lingering around them. This was part of our daily routine."

Mr. Nakuina went on to justify, with sentiments of personal gratitude, the discipline of his teacher just mentioned. It no doubt contributed, "in my case," he said, "to what I am today." He mentioned five sovereigns, ministers of the crown, distinguished lawyers of great ability, merchants, government officials, mechanics, teachers, etc., who had obtained the rudiments of education in that school. "The playful black sheep of the fold" was now a Commissioner of Education. In conclusion he asked the children to give honor to the Governor, the legislators and the educational authorities for the gift that was theirs today. "May you show your appreciation," the speaker said, "by making double efforts in all branches of study that may be given to you. May the Royal school be always a blessing as it has been in the past, may its influence reach every son of the soil and also the stranger from over the sea."

ROYAL SCHOOL STAFF.

The present staff of the Royal school is constituted as follows: Rev. Alexander Mackintosh, Mr. Robert Law, Mr. Chas. F. True, Mrs. Juliet Tanager, Mrs. C. K. Brown, Mrs. Alice Brown, Miss Edith Nichols, Miss Louisa Brickwood, Miss Mollie Grace, Miss Sadie McLain, Miss Anna Sorenson, Miss Frances Bindt, Miss Ada Lyett, Miss Annie Goo Kim, Mrs. C. K. Phillips, Miss Helen C. Smith, Miss Jean K. Angus.

ONE OF THE TRIUMPHS OF MODERN SURGERY—By applying an antiseptic dressing to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, they may be healed without maturation and in one-third the time required by the old treatment. This is one of the greatest discoveries and triumphs of modern surgery. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering such injuries entail. For sale by all dealers. KINDERGARTEN MEETING

The Kindergarten Association held its regular monthly meeting in the parlors of Y. W. C. A. at 9:30 March 3. Miss Waterhouse presided and a full attendance of ladies gave a very animated meeting. The various reports from the committees showed the schools to be in a flourishing condition and the health of the children generally is excellent. Perhaps the most interesting report of all was that of Mrs. Thompson. Very few realize the extent of conscientious work done by this lady in caring for the health of all these little ones, and the many valuable lessons given to those mothers, who are so woefully ignorant of the laws of health. There have been many special cases of illness this past month, necessitating constant care and watchfulness. But Mrs. Thompson is always alert and equal to the emergency, and few of us would care to think of what our work would miss, were the association to be deprived of the help of Mrs. Thompson.

CAPT. BRAY SHIPS
ALL THE CREWS

The movement on the part of shipping houses of this city to place the shipping of crews for vessels in their charge in the hands of Captain Bray of the Sailors' Home, has had a good effect. The crimp has taken a back seat, at least for the present. Captain Bray has secured crews for the Willcott, Dirigo and the Fooning Suey. In the case of the Dirigo, with a shortage of deep-water sailors, half of the crew was made up of Hawaiians. Captain Goodwin, however, is perfectly satisfied with Hawaiians, having had them on a previous voyage. All the vessels sailed from the wharves straight out to sea without having any trouble with the crews.
